HOSTED BY JOAN COLLINS

When the Beatles started writing songs and playing music in Liverpool pubs, it was unfathomable that they would become the most important and epic group in modern musical history. Rising from their humble beginnings, the Beatles not only dominated the popular music charts, but composed a legendary repertoire of songs that secured their influential legacy and enduring longevity in the annals of both popular song and cultural lore. Furthermore, they became iconic and progressive social figures, helping transform and shape the collective generational narrative of the 20th Century.

On this DVD, Conductor Louis Clark, creator of the international hit series Hooked On Classics, reinterprets Beatles' hits with a symphony orchestra and chorus, culminating in a historic, full-length live concert attended by Paul & Linda McCartney as well as Queen Elizabeth II & The Duke of Edinburgh.
