AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL: The National Forests of Utah

View DVD #2081 – List Price $14.98

America The Beautiful: The National Forests of Utah is a wonderful montage of Utah's magnificent western terrain, from the dry desert ground to the grand peaks of mountaintops and the beautiful animals of the wild. A medley of spectacular footage featuring some of Utah's fifteen million acres of national forests that spread along the state's 53 million acres of land with inspiring views of many of the 48 species of trees that cover a third of the state.

While being entranced by the lovely images moving across the screen, the background is set to the superb sounds of classical music by Rachmaninov, Gounod, Adam and other distinguished and renowned composers. The breathtaking scenes and delightful classical sounds are a pleasure for the eyes and ears.

...journey to spectacular and diverse sights of Utah.

EARTH AID: Water Conservation

View DVD #2545 – List Price $14.98

The amount of water on Earth available for use remains the same even as the amount of people on the planet continues to grow. Earth's water comes from lakes, rivers, streams and ground water (which is where most of the drinkable water comes from). Every year, garbage, poisonous chemicals and other harmful contaminants are polluting our sources of natural water.

Host Ed Begley, Jr., Emmy Award Nominee and motion picture star, presents helpful tips on ways everyone can help to conserve an indispensable natural resource that Earth and all its inhabitants depend on, water.

"Breathtaking nature footage introduces this practical guide to conserving the earth's water resources, illustrating just how much we have to lose." –School Library Journal

EARTH AID: Recycling

View DVD #2546 – List Price $14.98

Everyday people dispose of 19 million bottles and jars, 46 million cans and 25 thousand televisions, creating pollution and health hazards. EARTH AID: Recycling shows how recycling conserves the earth's energy while reducing the amount of pollution in the environment.

Host Ed Begley, Jr., Emmy Award Nominee and motion picture star, discusses every day steps on recycling, ways to reuse and reduce waste. This DVD program gives details on recyclables that many people are aware of such as aluminum, glass and paper as well as enlightens us regarding other products such as tires and motor oil that not everyone is aware of. To preserve the balance of natural systems essential to life on Earth, recycling must take precedence in all of our lives.

"...this programs concentration of environmental-friendly facts will provide positive reinforcement for all who see it." –School Library Journal
