- Juggling is good for your health
 1. Juggling activates both sides of the brain! The action of concentrating on 3 or more balls (clubs, rings, etc) forces the brain to co-ordinate both sides.
 2. This also increases brain function by increasing blood flow to the most important parts of the brain.
 3. Juggling is great for the heart. A fair amount of the upper body is exercised when juggling. The heart gets a good work out.
 4. Juggling provides a good aerobic and cardiovascular exercise.
